

Resources trusts didn't work in the 19th and 20th centuries, nor will a media trust work in the 21st Century...but such a trust is exactly what your changes to existing regulation will help bring about. Workers, people of color, women, and many other communities are already criminally underrepresented in the media and their product; this act will ensure that only the wealthy elites have any voice at all in this country...and that only to continue to spread propaganda.
